A Desperate Encounter with a Deer

An Institute, named M k: Cattighan, who was a small and almost valueless farm in the mountains, a few miles north of Porter's Like, in Pike county, Poon., had an encounter with a deer recently, which, had it not been for the timely actival of his daughter, might have been Lislas: A few moreit gaago Call ghan arose carli r tlan usual, as he desired to start early for Bust-kill, about 13 miles distant. While nichting his horse to the wagon he discovered a large four propged buck deer grizing on a maleleaning a few roots from his house. He ran to the hots, se'z d his rifl , and crawled on his hands and knees through the words beand a stone feed, until he got within shooting distance. Then to make sure of hirting the teer, he placed the barrel of his will in the crotch of a small chestour tree, and, taking deliberate sim, fired. The deer gave an upward plucye and tell to the ground, apparently life-less. The ball had penetrated the animal's breast, from which the blood flowed freely. Callighan laid down his kun and, c mabing the fence, walked up to the wounded over with the intention of custing its throat. As he was about to draw his hunting knife from his belr, the deer gave a sudden and desperate lunge, evening he nunter with its antiers and throwing him several feet in the sir. When he landed he struck upon his head and shoulders, stunning him so that he ley several seconds partially in-

When he fully recover d, the deer was still ying on the graned a few feet distant. Usl ighan thought the animal had lost enough blood to warrant him in making a second at ack without dauger of being further injured. He seized the drine buck by his antiers with nie lett hand, and with his right drew the blad. of his kuife soross the animal's throat with the intention of severing the winapipe, but in this e only partially succeeded. This seemed to and to the fary of the wounded suites, for i gave scother pow-rful lunge, throwing the unter with great violence to the ground. The deer then began passing him with its front feet and goring him with its hores. In the strugglo he buoter list his knife, and fearing that the deer would kil him, he shouted to his daughte r, who hastened to ner father's rescue. She picked up the kerfe, saized the deer by the ant lers, and, with one thrust of the keife, nearly severed the head from the body. It gave one or two kicks, and di d. Although Califeban's injucies are not dengerous, he will be laid up for some time. His body was literally covered with scratches, and his cothes were torn into shreds. The deer was a very large one, weighiog nearly 200 pounds and was the third one the brave you g woman has belped to kill during the past fow years.

FEMALE SLANDERERS. -Or all the evils prevalent among young men, we know of none more blighting in its moral effects that to speak lightly of the virture of woman. Nor is there anything in which young men are so thoroughly mistaken, as in the low estimate they form of the integri y of women; not their own mothers and sisters, but of others, who they torget are some one clee's mothers and sisters. As a rule, no persons who surrender to this debasing habit, are to be trusted with any enterprise, requiring integrity of character.

Plain words shou'd be spoken on this point for the evil is a general and d op rooted one. If young men are some imes thrown into the society of thoughtless women, they have no more right to measure all other women by what they see in them, than they would have to judge the character of honest and respectable citizens, by the developments of crime in a police court Let our young mee remember that the chie happiness in life, depends on their utter faith in women, No world y wisdom, no misanthropic philoso phy, no gen ralization can cover or weaken this lundamental truth. It stands like the rock of God itself-for it is nothing else than this, and should put an everlasting seal upon the lips that are went to speak lightly of women.

The lines of railways in the five divisions of the earth cost, in round numbers, $16.00,000,-000, and would, according to Baron Kolb, reach eight times around the globe, although it is but little over half a century since the first railway worked by steam was opened between Darlington and Stockton, September 27, 1825, and between Manchester and Liverpool, September 15, 1830. It is shown that in France, previous to the existance of railways, there was one passenger in every 335 000 killed, and one cu every 30 000 wounded, whereas between 1835 and 1875 there was but one in 5 1 8 8 0 killed, and one in 580,450 wounded, so that we may infer that the tendency to accidents is yearly ishing hallway traveling in England is at-tended with greater risk than in anyother country in Europe. A French statistician observed that, f a person w-re to live cont nuclly in a railway carriage and spend all his time in railway traveling, the chances in favor of his dying from a railway accident would not colur until ne was 960 years old.
